About

As a member of the THIS for Diplomats Leadership Triad, Co-President Sarah Moss is jointly leading THIS with President Peggy Letter and Chief Operating Officer Carol Bradford. Since joining THIS ten years ago, Sarah has served in a wide range of key roles: as Co-Chair of the Bethesda/Chevy Chase Cultural Exchange; Chair of the Nominating Committee; Chair of the Landmark, Lifestyles & Gardens Committees; and Co-Chair of the Book Discussion Group. Presently, she is also serving as Chair of the 2023 New Diplomat Welcome.

Sarah worked in the legal, medical, export, and telecommunications fields as an administrative assistant to company presidents, chief legal counsel, and surgeons. After completing her BS Degree in Mathematics at Roanoke University and MS degree at Virginia Tech, she began her 30-year teaching career as a high school mathematics, computer science, and statistics teacher, first in Virginia and ultimately in Maryland. Sarah retired as the math department head at Walter Johnson High School in Bethesda.

Having traveled extensively throughout the world with friends and her husband Barry, Sarah has greatly enjoyed learning about diverse cultures and the countries she has visited. In addition to traveling, her interests include sailing, biking, reading, theater, her wonderful family and friends and, of course, THIS for Diplomats.
